

Difficult Conversations

Conflict avoidance can lead to a decline in overall team performance, therefore it is critically important to be able to effectively address issues as they arise.

Join Lisa and Dave for a brief exploration of acceptable and effective ways to embrace the challenge of having difficult conversations. You'll get a chance to practice as we break into groups to really challenge each other in various behavioral situations.

Practice confronting without confrontation and disagreeing without being disagreeable.