

Get Rolling on Risk

In this fast-paced, hands-on, team-oriented experience, you get a chance to build your risk management practice and make your next project more risk-resilient. Carl Pritchard, author of two textbooks on risk management and past author of the Guide to the Project Management Body of Knowledge (Risk Chapter) provides practical, real-world practices that you can start applying the day after the class ends! You'll build a risk register, identify dozens of risks and develop practical strategies that can apply to single projects or to the organization as a whole. Beyond that? You'll figure out that risk management can actually be engaging and fun!

Learning Objectives

Upon completion, participants will be able to:

- identify dozens of risks in a very, very compressed time frame
- prioritize which risks are the most significant in their environment
- develop risk responses that make sense within your culture
- share risks without making everyone around you depressed
